PEKING OFFICIALS ADMIT FALL OF JEHOI CITY YESTERDAY

TIDAL WAVE WRECKAGE ON JAPAN COAST

Tens Of Thousands
Now Homeless.

HARROWING SCENES IN RUINED DISTRICTS.

(Reuter's Special Service.)

Tokyo, Yesterday.
Harrowing scenes are reported from the earthquake stricken districts on the north east coast of Japan where tens of thousands of people are rendered homeless. They spent a miserable night in the open or in rickety shelters improvised from wreckage left by the receding waves. Occasional after-shocks combined with snow and sleet added to the terror and discomfort of the homeless victims.

Grim scenes were witnessed, men and women distractedly seeking for traces of their children and other relatives, or identifying corpses washed ashore. Improvised hospitals and relief stations, erected at various points, are working desperately to relieve the suffering. Military and civilians are co-operating with the work of rendering assistance.

More than 20 villages in the Iwate Prefecture are reported to be completely wiped out. The death toll is rapidly growing, and the latest official figures, give the number of dead as 1,535.

In addition, 948 are still missing and 338 are injured.

CHINESE TROOPS IN FULL RETREAT

JAPANESE HALT AT GREAT WALL

GENERAL TANG YU-LIN FLEES
WITH PERSONAL BODYGUARD

TOKIO, YESTERDAY.

JEHOI CITY WAS OCCUPIED AT 11.30 THIS MORNING. THE CHINESE TROOPS ARE REPORTED TO BE IN FULL RETREAT AND AT NOON WERE RETIRING SOUTH THROUGH THE TWO PASSES OF HSIFENGKOU AND CHIEHLINGKOU ACROSS THE GREAT WALL.

A message from Chinchow states that following the occupation of Jehoi City the Chinese are reported to have fled in confusion, mostly to the south-west, though some are reported to have fled north in the direction of Lungkuang, including General Tang Yu-lin with his personal bodyguard. —Reuter.

Peking, Yesterday.

The Chinese authorities admit the fall of Jehoi City this morning, also that General Tang Yu-lin is fleeing from the city. —Reuter.

Tokio, Yesterday.

The Japanese halted their pursuit at Linkou, on the Great Wall, at noon.

Tokyo, Earlier.

No news has been received yet regarding the capture of Jehoi City.

It is learned, however, that the vanguard of the Kawahara Brigade, according to the last report, was battling its way towards Jehoi City from Pingchuan in a raging snowstorm, which was hampering aerial reconnaissance, although the Japanese aircraft, despite the blizzard, were attempting to reconnoitre the Chinese positions around the City. —Reuter.

Japanese Anxiety For Kawahara Brigade.

AEROPLANE SEARCH AFTER
WEATHER CLEARS.

(Reuter's Special Service.)

Tokyo, Yesterday.
Reports from Chinchow state that following yesterday's violent snowstorm, the weather has cleared.

Japanese aircraft hopped off early this morning in an endeavour to locate the position of the Kawahara Brigade vanguard, whose whereabouts since leaving Pingchuan are uncertain.

The absence of news is causing some anxiety, as General Kawahara's handful of men is believed to be confronting 50,000 Chinese troops. In addition they are badly handicapped by the extreme wintry conditions in the mountainous country.

Brigade East of Jehoi City.

Tokyo, Later.

It is reported that the Kawahara Brigade vanguard passed Tungchangzui, 12 miles eastward of Jehoi City at 8.20 a.m., continuing the pursuit. —Reuter.

Japanese Spies Caught
And Executed.

20 TRAITORS QUICKLY
PUNISHED

Tokyo, Yesterday.

Chinese official communiques this morning complain of a vast number of Chinese traitors sent into Jehoi by the Japanese as spies to cut the Chinese communications. Twenty of these spies are reported to have been caught and summarily executed.

Snowstorms are now visiting almost the entire province (Jehoi) and it seems very doubtful whether the line from Pingchuan to Sataokow will play any part at all. —Reuter.

Tang Commandeers
Transportation.

SELFISHNESS IMPEDES
MILITARY MOVES.

(Reuter's Special Service.)

Peiping, Yesterday.

That the situation in Jehoi is eloquent is confirmed by a report that General Tang Yu-lin yesterday commandeered several hundred trucks at Jehoi City, belonging to Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang loaded them with his personal belongings, and sent them to Kupeikow. There, however, the "Young Marshal's" troops, discovering the facts, turned out General Tang's stuff and sent back the trucks to Jehoi.

It is understood that General Tang's action seriously inconvenienced General Oung Chao-jen, leaving him without transportation for artillery and ammunition.

Tientsin Withdrawal Demanded?

Tokio, Yesterday.

The War Office knows nothing of the alleged Japanese demand for the withdrawal of Chinese troops from Tientsin. —Reuter.

Siam Neutral.

REASON FOR ABSTENTION
FROM LEAGUE VOTE

London, Yesterday.

A Communiqué issued from the Siamese Legation declares that it is the Government's policy to remain neutral in the Sino-Japanese controversy. For this reason their representative at Geneva abstained from voting on the League Assembly resolution.

Rumours that the Government is acting as an agent for Japan in the purchase of arms, or is in any way aiding Japan, are entirely without foundation. —Reuter.

Chinese Envoy Calls At Foreign Office.

CHINESE REPRESENTATIVE
VISITS FOREIGN OFFICE

London, Yesterday.

Mr. Chang, the Chinese Charge d'Affaires, called at the Foreign Office this morning and had a long conversation with Sir Victor Wellesley, Deputy Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs.

England's "white" winter brought the revival of skating, and thousands, all over the country, enjoyed the spell of frost. Rosie, the Chessington Zoo elephant, is seen obliging Epsom skaters by testing the ice. A striking contrast to the winter modes of to-day, are those shown by the dignified skaters of 1900 (right). PENNY A MILE RAIL RATE

British Companies May Reduce Fares.

RESTORING PROSPERITY TO RAILWAYS.

(Reuter's Special Service.)

London, Yesterday.

A big bid to restore railway prosperity by a drastic reduction in fares was foreshadowed by Mr. William Whitelaw, Chairman of the L. N. E. R., when presiding at the annual meeting of the London, North Eastern Railway to-day.

After an allusion to the attractions of reverting to the pre-war rate of 1d per mile from the present rate of 1 1/4d. Mr. Whitelaw said that the Companies were giving careful consideration to the matter, including the risks involved. An important announcement, he said, would be made shortly.

Four railway groups had given 12-months' notice to terminate the industrial arrangement under which all questions of the conditions of employment are adjudicated by the National Wages Board.

In the meantime, however, they were willing to discuss some other more suitable form of procedure.

Arms Embargo Condemned.

LONDON "POPULAR" PRESS
SEEKS REMOVAL

London, Yesterday.

A demand for the removal of the arms embargo is made in a leading article in the Daily Mail to-day. The Daily Express similarly condemns the embargo as futile.

The Times, commenting on the decision of the Premier, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, and the Foreign Secretary, Sir John Simon, to go to Geneva, emphasises the necessity for consolidation on every possible point in the agreement if the failure of the Disarmament Conference is to be avoided.

Meanwhile, one of the tasks of Captain Anthony Eden, Under-Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs on his return to Geneva will be to push forward the formation of a sub-committee, on the embargo of arms to the Far East.

The Times recalls that Sir John Simon stipulated, when the embargo was announced the necessity for international action, and states that if Britain's lead is not followed, the whole question will have to be reconsidered. —Reuter.

Melbourne, Yesterday.

Rain held up play here to-day in the match between Victoria and the M.C.C., only 39 runs being scored for the loss of one wicket before lunch.

A crowd of 2,000 witnessed the resumption of the Victorian innings on a good wicket this morning, but after 39 runs had been added rain caused play to be abandoned for the day.

Nevertheless, extensive precautions were taken by the Police and Secret Service guards, many of whom mingled with the huge crowd of spectators who thronged the vicinity of the Capitol for the inauguration ceremony, which was conducted with the usual ceremony.

After President Roosevelt and Vice-President Garner had taken the Oath, the members of the new Democratic Cabinet were also sworn in. —Reuter.

President Roosevelt's visit to Mr. Hoover was attended by Mr. Ogden Mills, Secretary of the Treasury, Dr. Moley, President Roosevelt's economic adviser, and Mr. Eugene Meyer, President of the Federal Reserve Board.

President Roosevelt subsequently saw a number of political and financial leaders while Mr. Hoover was closeted with Mr. Mills.

These emergency conferences have started numerous rumours. One is to the effect that President Roosevelt and Mr. Hoover have considered the possible abandonment of gold payments or an embargo on gold exports.

None of the rumours are confirmable, as the meeting was private and no statement was issued. —Reuter.

EPIC FLYING TO REACH SICK SOLDIER

Mountains Crossed In Raging Storm.

"AIR-AMBULANCE" FEAT

Algiers. A "flying ambulance" has battled its way across the massive atlas mountains in a raging tempest to save the life of a French corporal. This corporal, garrisoned at Tidikelt, near the Oasis of In Salah, in the heart of the Sahara, had a terrible abscess in his throat, and was in danger of being choked to death. His Colonel sent out a wireless message calling for an "air-ambulance," with a doctor, to be dispatched from Maison Blanche, the "Croydon" of Algiers. The ambulance set out with another aeroplane as escort, and in spite of a raging storm flew over the Atlas mountains and landed at Laghouat, some 200 miles from the coast.

Next day the two machines flew on to In Salah. But violent sandstorms were blowing, and it was 24 hours before the air ambulance could set off on its return journey.

The moment the storm subsided the patient was placed in the air ambulance, which flew with an open throttle in five hours to Laghouat—about 500 miles away—where there is a hospital. There the man received attention which removed him from actual danger, and later he was taken by air to Algiers, where he was operated on in the more fully-equipped hospital.—Reuter.

GIRL TYPISTS WHO FAIL

Civil Government To Be Granted.

ONE IN 14 PASSES

London.

"Of course, girl are such good shorthand typists. So quick. So reliable."

That is what most people say. Which is why it came as a great surprise to read that only one candidate in 14 passed the recent Whitehall examination for girls who wanted to become Civil Service typists.

Hundreds of the girls who were "ploughed"—they totalled 1,300, were unable to decipher the shorthand notes they had taken down, and could not produce anything like an intelligible transcript.

The maximum number of marks for shorthand was 200. Scores of girls received none. One girl got a "duck" for arithmetic, while several received less than one fifth of the possible total. Almost 1,000 failed in English and typing.

Four, eight and twelve were among the marks obtained—out of a possible 400—for typing. Here again, one girl got none.

One girl actually failed to obtain a single mark out of a maximum of 1,000 for the whole exam. Four others were below 100.—Reuter.

KNIT YOUR SWIMMING SUIT

YOU must have a hand-knitted bathing suit. It is not so hard to make as you might think.

Even an elementary knitter would not find it difficult to follow a pattern for one of these suits, and for the more ambitious there are opportunities of making bi-colour or even tri-colour suits.

Perhaps in a costume of this nature more than in anything else the quality of the wool used should get first consideration.

Get the Right Wool.

Get a reliable brand of wool and a guarantee that it will not shrink or the colour run.

To Improve A Jelly

THE flavour of a jelly will be considerably improved if a little jam is added to it while it is still hot. The jam should be melted and strained if there are any seeds before it is added. In an emergency, when there are no jellies in the house, an excellent jelly may be made with plain gelatine and melted jam.

Make the plain jelly in the usual manner and finally add about two tablespoonfuls of the melted jam selected.

A CHOCOLATE PUDDING.

BREAK into crumbs 4 penny sponge-cakes and place them in a greased pie-dish. Make some sweetened cocoa or chocolate with half a pint of boiling milk. Pour this over the crumbs and allow it to cool a little. Then add a beaten egg, stirring well.

Cook for three-quarters of an hour in a slow oven and serve with custard sauce. The appearance may be improved by sprinkling a little desiccated coconut on the top.

Having bought your wool—be sure you get sufficient to finish, so that you will have no trouble in matching your colour—get the correct gauge of needles so that your work will conform to size to fit yourself, bearing in mind that everyone varies in figure.

Don't necessarily work with the size of needle advised in the pattern book.

You may be a particularly loose knitter, in which case choose a smaller size. On the other hand, if your knitting is tight get knitting pins a size larger.

The fact that you will be wearing the suit in the sea and then probably allowing it to dry on you while you are sun-bathing on the sands makes it imperative that it should be just right.

Another way of assuring yourself that it will fit is by using either a 2, 3, or 4-ply wool, according to the tension at which you knit.

Avoid Glaring Colours.

The salt water will not harm your suit in the least if you choose the right wool, and to assure getting the right quality you should mention the fact when buying the wool that it is for a bathing costume.

If you are not an expert knitter, don't choose glaring colours. It will be much more satisfactory to make a navy blue or black suit than to appear in one of some bright colour, thus drawing attention to its possible defects.

"GREASE-PROOF"

COOKERY books are always liable to become stained and greasy with use in the kitchen, especially at Christmas time, when recipes for cakes, puddings, and mince pies are referred to frequently during the mixing of ingredients.

A protective envelope, large enough to hold an open book, may easily be made from a sheet of cellulose wrapping. The book, open at the required place, is slipped into this transparent grease-proof envelope before work is begun.

It may then be placed on the kitchen table and handled if necessary, while cooking is in progress without risk of damage. After use the envelope may be wiped clean with a damp cloth.

NEEDLEWORK PICTURES

NO matter what you may spend, nothing ever equals the value of a gift you have made yourself.

At the same time, few of us have much leisure these days, and so while they may be very appreciative of the beauty of hand embroidery, many women do not want to undertake elaborate work that will take weeks to finish.

Luckily, there is reason why they should, for modern transfers are specially designed to give wonderful effects with very little labour.

Imagine what a fascinating bag you could make. For the evening, when you want to carry dance shoes, you might choose satin to match your frock, dressing the lady in pastel blues, pinks and mauves, and working touches of yellow and clear green into the flower border.

Or, if you wanted to use it for your needlework, you could choose crash or coarse linen, working the design in clear, strong shades.

The transfer measures 7½ by 7½ inches, which means that it would

ACID STAINS

SOMETIMES the acid from a wireless battery is spilt on the carpet or on an article of clothing, with the result that, if a hole is not actually burnt, the colour of the article is changed. In the latter case the colour may be revived by the following method.

Damp a cloth with ammonia and sponge the affected portion several times. Finally repeat the process, only this time with a cloth dampened with chloroform.

also be perfect for a blotter, a telephone book cover, a handkerchief sachet or a nightdress case.

In a larger size—15 inches square—it would provide an excellent way of cheering up cushions that have become a little faded; it would look well at the foot of long curtains, and would add a very distinctive touch to a single bed-spread.

MANY HAPPY RETURNS FROM THE LAUNDRY

And another thing about Viyella. It never suffers from that "before-and-after" feeling. Viyella always looks as smart and comfortable and fascinating every time it comes back from the laundry as it did the day you bought it. Yes—every time, for one of Viyella's many distinctive virtues is that it won't wear out; its colours never fade, its fabric is born not to shrink or diverge from its pristine shapeliness.

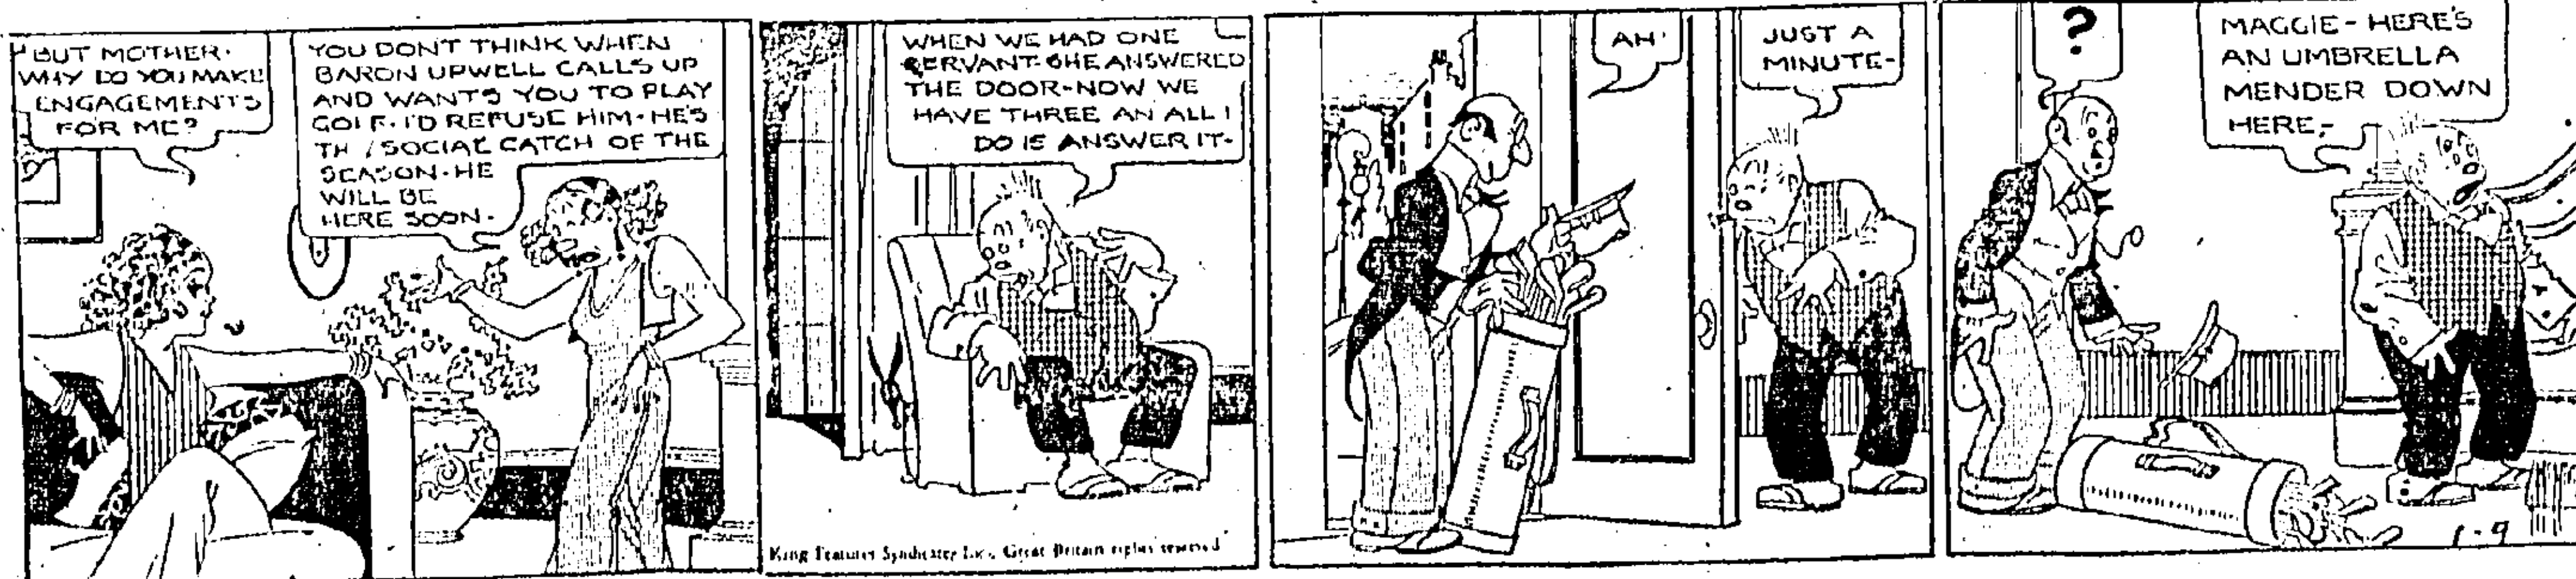

Age cannot wither nor constant use stale its infinite charm. Viyella remains faithful and steadfast, ever superior to hard wear; emerging hale and hearty from the weekly wash tub; proof against sun, against body-moisture, against all kinds of climate. Many happy returns to Viyella.

POLAR STAR SHATTERS WOODLAND STAG'S MILE RECORD

CITY OF BRISBANE IN CLOSE FINISH

BUCHANAN PAYS HIGHEST DIVIDEND OF YEAR

MR. DA ROZA LEADS JOCKEYS.

HELTER SKELTER'S surprising defeat by Buchanan in the first race, which resulted in the latter pony paying $114.20 for a win, and Polar Star's record run over a mile in the last race were the features of the First Extra Race Meeting at the Valley yesterday. Mr. G. U. da Roza headed the jockeys' list with two wins, a second, and two thirds in seven races. The only other jockey to register two wins was Mr. V. V. Needa, the Shanghai rider. Three jockeys registered their first win of the season—Messrs. S. N. Pan, A. L. Caplan and W. H. Choy. A notable absentee among the riders was Mr. "Leo" Frost, the champion jockey, who was unfortunately indisposed.

The First Extra Meeting, opened in sensational manner before a very small crowd at the Valley yesterday. Helter Skelter (Mr. Butler), a red hot favourite, was beaten by Buchanan in the Hay and Corn Stakes. Buchanan's first win of the season paid punters $114.20—the highest dividend this year, beating Tally Ho's return of $109.

The favourite got away to a poor start in company with Whoopie (Mr. Heard), and The Rainstorm (Mr. Pan), and his finish was most unimpressive after being ridden hard at the Rock. Gallant Fox (Mr. Chanson) and Flying Boy (Mr. Needa) were fourth and fifth.

Start Wins Race.

Stourbridge (Mr. Black), favourite for the Lotterers' Stakes, had the misfortune to draw eleven place in a field of eleven, and he never regained the distance lost on Mignonette (Mr. Choy) (No. 3) at the start. Mignonette led all the way round and won in most convincing manner. In the rear at the Rock Mr. Black brought his mount through beautifully in the straight, but the effort was so great that Per se (Mr. Yue Shin-wa) almost caught him at the post. The Cavalier (Mr. Poy) and Stickypast (Mr. Young) were an appreciable distance behind Per se.

Stirring Finish.

Mr. Heard's fine finish on Valorous nearly robbed King's Bounty (Mr. da Roza) of the All Out Stakes. He came through with a fine burst just as the Dynasty pony looked to be tiring, but Mr. da Roza, though being overhauled at every yard, just managed to get home by a length after a thrilling struggle with Don (Mr. Ip) for the lead in the straight up to the Rock. It was this effort that nearly cost King's Bounty the race, and was yet another instance of a poor start bringing out a pony's capabilities. Gold River (Mr. Caplan) was fourth in this close finish.

Favourite Wins Again.

H. E. the Governor and Lady Peel arrived shortly before the Randwick Plate and witnessed one of the best races of the afternoon. Golden Dawn (Mr. da Roza) and Ntukt (Mr. Sewell) fought out a thrilling duel for the lead at the Rock, and both ponies showed signs of cracking up opposite the stands, though What's That (Mr. Caplan) had all his work cut out to get home by a short head. It was another win for the favourite. Northern Star (Mr. Pan) and Pick-me-up (Mr. Penrose) finished behind the leaders in that order.

Mr. Needa's Finish.

The public were treated to another of Mr. Needa's brilliant finishes when he brought King Salmon home in the Tytam Handicap (A). Charming Face (Mr. Ip) drew the rails, and took an early lead closely followed by Burgomaster (Mr. Butler) and Jingle (Mr. Heard). Coming into the straight Burgomaster looked a winner with the Samson entrant a strong challenge. It was then that Mr. Needa came through to snatch a surprising win, considering his place in the rear on the bend into the straight.

Jingle, the favourite, was fourth with Kliekittat (Mr. Chanson) and White Butterfly (Mr. Pan) in the rear. The Hong Kong Handicap (A) provided a stirring struggle between the two Dynasty entrants, Hotman (Mr. da Roza) and King's Justice (Mr. Heard), the former winning a well-judged race by half a length. Champagne Bay (Mr. Butler) and Navy Hall (Mr. Carroll) were well behind the leaders.

Mr. Needa's Second.

Iron Grey, favourite for the Tytam Handicap (B), provided Mr. Needa with his second win of the afternoon when he won comfortably from Partnership (Mr. A. L. Caplan). Black Velvet (Mr. Heard) was well supported for a place, and he managed to please many, though credit is due to Mr. Heard for his riding, as the pony is by no means at his fittest. Auction Bridge (Mr. Black), Krata Viz (Mr. Proulx), Gold Bridge (Mr. da Roza), Tal Peastie (Mr. Chanson), Philterer (Mr. Butler), The Leprechaun (Mr. Harriman), Spring Field (Mr. Fung) and Heather Leaf (Mr. Carroll) finished in that order behind the placed ponies. Brechin (Mr. Heard) was caught at the gate and the favourite was beaten out of a place by the fast pace set by Blue Star (Mr. Pan), which drew the rails, and Poker Face (Mr. Soares). Powerful King (Mr. Chanson) and Mon Talisman (Mr. Needa) were up with the leaders on passing the stands the first time, but both failed to last the pace. Brechin, a red hot favourite both ways came fourth.

Polar Star's Record.

Polar Star (Mr. Butler) clipped 1.2/5 secs. off Woodland Stag's record for the mile when he beat City of Brisbane by a length after a very fast race. Canny (Mr. Needa) was only a short head behind Mr. Proulx's mount, and would probably have offered a stern challenge to the Star pony had he been able to come through on the rails in the straight. The Giraffe (Mr. da Roza) was fourth and the remaining ponies finished in the following order: The Raincloud (Mr. Heard), Lucy Glitters (Mr. Black) and Evening Star (Mr. Pan).

H.K. LADIES WIN CAER CLARK CUP

Ten "Y" Ladies Lose By 2 To 0.

MISS GROUNDWATER'S RETURN.

The Hong Kong Ladies' Hockey Club established their claim to the Caer Clark Cup for the fourth year in succession when they defeated the "Y" Ladies by two goals to nil at King's Park yesterday afternoon. Fielding a considerably weakened team of only ten players, Miss Mason being an absentee through injury, the "Y" Ladies played gallantly against a much superior team, and the way they held the champions to only two goals came as a surprise.

In the first half of the game, H. Knill gave Hong Kong the lead, and C. Ferguson added their second goal in the second half. M. Groundwater, who made her return at centre-half for the "Y" since her return to the Colony, played a good game, while A. Fowler in the last line of defence rendered valuable assistance.

H.K.L.H.C.—E. M. Gray, B. Franklin, J. Dalziel, B. M. Pope, D. Robertson, H. Knill, M. Adam-Jones, P. M. Harrop, C. Ferguson and J. Churchill.

"Y" Ladies—L. Owen, Mrs. Portliff, A. Fowler, M. Gardner, R. Groundwater, P. McCaw, M. Tillery, R. Blackmore, S. Dalziel and O. Brown.

PLAYER HAS HEART FAILURE.

Miss Steele Pluckily Resumes.

RECREIO BEAT C.B.A.

A. E. E. Steele, the captain of the Central British Association Ladies' hockey eleven, was the victim of a heart attack, during the second half of the Caer Clark Cup match between the C.B.A. and the Club de Recreio Ladies on the former's ground at King's Park yesterday afternoon.

Miss Steele was forced to leave the field at a critical point, and the Recreio won by 3 goals to 1. Happily, the attack did not incapacitate Miss Steele seriously, and after five minutes rest, she sportingly returned to the field of play.

In the first half, O. Ribeiro opened the Recreio's account, but within a few minutes M. Smith scored the equaliser. Before the interval, however, C. Silva placed the Recreio ahead.

Play in the second half was featured by some good work in defence by E. M. Beavis for the C.B.A. Their forwards, however, were weak when in front of goal, G. MacNider missing a sitter from a good pass from E. Woolley. In a Recreio attack late in the game, A. Alves netted to place the issue beyond doubt.

C.B.A.—K. Fisher, M. Hudson, L. Whitley, A. E. E. Steele, E. M. Beavis, H. Ambrose, G. MacNider, E. Carroll, M. Smith, D. Miles and E. S. Woolley.
Recreio—B. Almada, C. Osmond, M. Basto, E. Xavier, M. Alves, E. Rosario, B. Remedios, O. Ribeiro, C. Silva, A. Alves and M. Remedios.

League Leaders Lose Shield Game

Borderers Register the "Double."

CLUB ROUTED.

THERE were few surprises in yesterday's Shield soccer game, the Borderers, South China and Lincolns securing expected triumphs. The Borderers went over one better. They registered the "double."

The big surprise of the day was the success of the Royal Air Force, a Third Division Club, over the Lincolns second eleven after being a goal in arrears at the interval.

In the Senior Shield the Lincolns given a hard fight by the Artillery and only a good goal by Haldy half way through the second half allowed them to progress further in the competition.

A thrilling struggle between the Service Corps and the Athletic "B" was decided by a penalty after the R.A.S.C. had thrown away an earlier spot kick. South China commenced their game against Kowloon in sensational manner, scoring from the kick off, and they never let up on their early advantage. Goutly, a newcomer to the mainland side, made an impressive debut in this game.

The Athletic sustained another defeat when their "A" lost to the Navy after extra time had been played. Rawson scored the all-important point two minutes before the whistle for full time. (Full details on page 12).

WRESTLING AGAIN AT K.F.C. THIS AFTERNOON

SMALL TOWNS TYPIFY REAL U.S.

Go-Ahead Communities of Middle-West

Modern Self-Supporting Backwood Cities

VIVID PICTURE OF LIFE

(By MARTIN MOORE).

BURR CITY lies on the Kansas plain, almost in the very centre of the United States. More than seventeen hundred miles eastward to New York; more than seventeen hundred miles westward to San Francisco beyond the Rockies.

There are only just over twelve thousand people living here. If everyone in the township—man, woman, and child—were an office worker, desks could be found for them all in a single one of New York's skyscrapers. Yet Burr City is the largest town in a radius of almost a hundred miles. It is a microcosm of the Middle West. Multiply it a thousand times and you have the real America.

Voicing The States. I have given Burr City an imaginary name because it is no typical. Place your finger on the map almost anywhere from coast to coast—and there is Burr City. It is not with the voice of New York that the real America speaks, but with the voice of the multitudinous inhabitants of Burr City.

It was ten o'clock in the evening when I alighted at the station, and only the booking clerk, lounging in a tilted chair with his feet on the table, remained to guard the interests of the railroad company.

No, he said, there were no taxis at the station, for no local passengers had been expected at this unseasonable hour. But he would telephone to a garage for one of the cars that piled for hire in the city. As I climbed in beside the driver, I drew a mental picture of Burr City. I imagined the wooden hotel, the village store, the unpaved streets. . . . Here, surely, was some forgotten village of the backwoods.

Prairie "Piccadilly." But at that moment we swung out of the somnolent station precincts into a dazzling avenue of light. What Broadway glare was this? What Piccadilly-circus of the Prairies? We drove past half a mile of glittering shops, with twinkling signs of red and blue and green lights.

Morning revealed the rest—of Burr City no less modern than the electric signs on Main-street. Because this little township is so far away from "civilisation," that is no reason why it should lag behind the times. Indeed, it must be up to the minute in everything it does.

Here are the inevitable drug stores, where you can have a meal, or buy (as advertised) twenty thousand different kinds of merchandise; everything, it seems, except drugs.

Nor do the ladies of Burr City have to go farther than Main-street for the latest fashions. Besides the four or five department stores, there are numbers of little modistes' establishments, each with a single gown, or perhaps a couple of hats, tastefully displayed in the window. An express rail service from New York brings these fashions to Burr City almost before they have appeared in the windows of Fifth-avenue.

Everyone A Motorist.

And it is not only the metropolitan cities that the railway refrigerating cars speed each day with their load of exotic fruits and vegetables from South and West. The greengrocers of Main-street have persimmons and custard apples and cucumbers and crisp salads, even when the temperature is well below zero. There is no mercantile hinterland in America, however isolated may be the backwoods of political and economic thought.

Whatever statistics may prove, it is quite clear to the casual observer that every single inhabitant of Burr City possesses a motor-car. Moreover, he leaves his car parked all day in the street, so that the town has a permanent air of being the precincts of some big sporting event on a Saturday afternoon.

Off The Storm Track. Banks are likewise prolific. In these parts, a "city" (no one ever speaks of a town or village) of 500 inhabitants would have its own little bank. Anyone may start a bank, even if he cannot add up a row of figures. All the law requires is that he should have $2,000 capital.

By some such process as this it has come about that the people of Burr City have a choice of seven banks. Surprisingly, all of them are still solvent. For Burr City stands a little aside from the storm-track of Mid-West failures. The farms in this eastern part of Kansas raise chiefly cattle and mixed crops, and thus have been less seriously affected by the collapse of prices than the grainlands.

Trim Wooden Homes. The amazing thing about Burr City is that all these smartly dressed people seem to be making a living by taking in one another's washing or by selling city comforts to outlying farmers. I could discover no manufacture or export industry in the town. Things are "not so good," the citizens tell me; but they still go briskly about their business.

Everyone lives in a trim wooden "home" of five or six rooms, standing with its garage on a trim little grass-plot. No hedge or fence separates the house from the road, and no house has a garden.

Youth-Founded City. Seventy-five years ago a group of young idealists from New England came down to Kansas to combat slavery. They divided the land into parcels 50ft. by 130ft., and drew lots for the best pieces. That was the beginning of Burr City.

There have been romances of business, too. Forty years ago came a colony of Welsh immigrants in Burr City than in any other town in America. The newcomers started clothing and outfitting stores, and showed themselves such keen merchants that they are said to have driven their Jewish competitors completely out of business.

The newest invasion is Greek. The Greeks run most of the candy stores and cheap eating-houses in Burr City.

To those who live here, this is "the greatest little city in the world." They would not change it for the faded glories of New York and Chicago. It is a little self-contained metropolis on the Mid-Western plain.

There are thousands like it in America, living for themselves, thinking for themselves, proud of themselves.

WISE & OTHERWISE

OUR DAY.

"People should not marry on Wednesdays," says a gossip writer. We never do. We always marry on Tuesdays.

POOR STUFF.

A music-hall comedian is a blacksmith in his spare time. It is believed that he thinks out his material under the spreading chestnut tree.

LAMENT

Somehow it seems I cannot think
Until I've had a little drink,
And when I've had a little drink
Somehow it seems I cannot think.

"You used to call me sweetheart before we were married. Now you don't call me anything."
"That just shows my self-control."

QUITE!

The average thief is said to be highly superstitious. The night of a cross-eyed policeman leaning over his left shoulder after he has broken a plate-glass window makes him feel thoroughly depressed.

"You don't seem to have a thought for anything but motoring. Why don't you put your wife before your car sometimes?"
"I'm scared of being found out."

He took her in his arms. "Oh, darling," he murmured, "I love you madly. Please say you'll be mine. I'm not rich like Percival Brown, who has a car a fine house, and a well-stocked cellar; but I love you, and I cannot live without you!"
Two soft arms stole around his neck. "And I love you, too, darling; but—will you introduce me to this man Brown?"

A rich aunt sent five pounds to McPherson and asked him to send his twin boys, aged ten, for a week's holiday, as she had never met them. A few days later a Scots lad presented himself at her home, and with him came a note which read: "Dear Aunty, Here is young Donald, one of the twins. The other is exactly the same."

Off the Scent
The girl, young and pretty, was about to take her first train journey alone. She had been warned by her mother to be very careful and not to talk to strange men.
At the station the porter said: "Where are you going, miss?"
"To Manchester," she replied.
So he put her in the Manchester train.

As the train moved off she sank back in her seat with a smile.
"Ha, ha, I fooled him that time. I'm going to Bournemouth."

Mrs. Park Avenue: "Been long in the services of the family, Parker?"
Butler: "Yes, madam. I am now serving the third degeneration."

BRIDGE NOTES

INACCURATE POST-MORTEMS

(By Ely Culbertson.)

POST-MORTEMS at the Bridge table are usually in accurate because they fail to take into account anything but the most obvious play. Most players in their post hand analysis concede tricks to Aces and Kings, failing to remember that accurate play and accurate counting of the distribution of suits may nullify the value of otherwise taking honours.

The hand below, in which the South cards were held by Mr. Walter Malowan, shows how an accurate count of the cards held by his opponents enabled him to make what appeared to be an impossible contract.

THE BIDDING.

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
1S	2H	2S(1)	3H(2)
4S(3)	Pass(4)	Pass	Pass

1—This Raise is not justified on the basis of playing-tricks. It is, however, sound from the defensive standpoint.

2—A sound Raise based both on honour holdings and playing-tricks.

3—South's four spade bid is optimistic in view of his partner's single Raise which may be the showing of only slight support for the bid in view of the scoring situation.

4—West, vulnerable, declines to risk a bid of five hearts. Actually this contract would have been penalized only 1 trick.

West elected to open his singleton diamond. This lead was not a particularly desirable one, but was based on the hope that his partner might hold the Ace of diamonds and permit him to utilize his lone trump in ruffing. South correctly read the lead for a singleton and thus had the first bit of information as to suit distribution. Apparently, the combined hands contained 4 losing tricks—2 in diamonds and 2 in clubs. In order, if possible, to reduce the losers to 3 and thus make his contract, South won the diamond trick with the Ace and led a heart from Dummy and trumped.

Elimination of the hearts from the Dummy Hand was an essential part of his campaign. A spade was led, taken in the Dummy and another heart ruffed in the closed hand. Dummy's last heart was led and through this process of suit elimination, Mr. Malowan had quite accurate information as to the distribution of the hands.

West had held originally one spade and one diamond. Apparently, his remaining cards had been six hearts and five clubs. East's Raise of West's heart bid and West's failure to bid five hearts seemed to make it more probable that he held six rather than seven hearts. East, therefore, held originally two spades, four hearts, six diamonds and one club. East's Singleton club must be an honour as otherwise West, with K.Q.J. of clubs in addition to his heart holding, would have continued the bidding. Mr. Malowan, therefore, led the deuce of clubs from his own hand and East won with his Singleton King. He now cashed 2 diamond tricks, but having done this, was through, as his next lead permitted South to discard a losing club in the Dummy which he trumped in the closed hand, thus making his contract.

DUPLICATION OF VALUES.

A constant bugbear to Contract Bridge players is the ever present fear of a duplication of values—that is one hand holds high cards of a suit and responding hand raises with adequate trump support and a void of the plain suit in which the partner holds the top. Obviously in such cases there is a duplication of values, which may result in disastrous overbidding when the partner forget that Slams should only be attempted when the partner are certain they will not lose enough tricks to missing Aces to defeat the contract.

There was a hand played recently at the Cavendish Club, New York, a centre of well played Contract, in which some players reached an unmakeable Grand Slam through a succession of errors, one of them being failure to take account of the duplication of values.

In discussing this hand I give the bidding as it occurred, and, in order to concentrate the reader's attention on the bidding problem, I will not publish the East and West hands. The hand was played at Duplicate.

THE BIDDING.

South	North
1 C	2 S (1)
3 NT (2)	4 H (3)
4 NT (4)	6 C (5)
7 C (6)	Pass

1—The first mistake. The minimum requirement for a Forcing Takeout is 3 honour-tricks unless the hand contains a solid trump suit or freak distribution. The spade Takeout is based on shaded top strength. The correct bid would have been one spade.

2—South's hand contains ½ honour-trick above the requirement for his Opening club bid, vulnerable. Mistled by his partner's Forcing Takeout, South now overbids his hand. His correct response would be two notrump.

3—The four heart bid, of course, necessarily follows in the wake of the previous strong bidding.

4—South now affirms the possession of additional values not previously shown; a course by no means entirely unjustified.

5—North's bid for Slam would be correct if his Forcing Takeout had been sound.

6—South reasons that North must hold the Ace of spades, as well as the Ace and King of hearts. He also believes that partner either holds the King of diamonds or a void in that suit, the latter being the most probable, as his showing of two suits and jump in clubs probably indicates a 5-4-4 distribution. The extremely strong bidding causes South to overestimate his hand.

It is, of course, apparent that North and South must lose a trick to the Ace of spades, regardless of whether or not a favourable distribution is found in the club suit.

More correct bidding of this hand would have been:

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	North
1 C	1 S
1 NT	3 H (1)
3 NT	6 C
6 C (2)	Pass

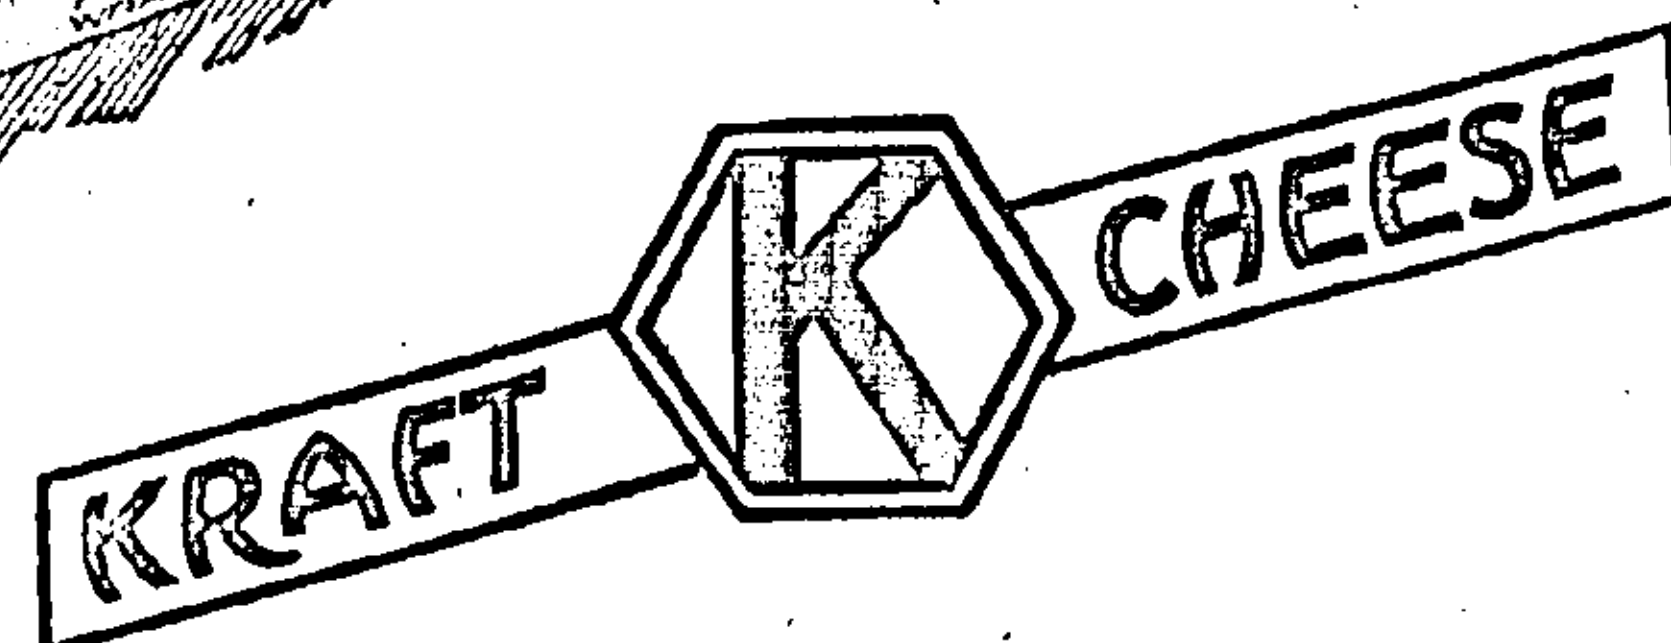

1—Despite partner's declaration that his hand is a minimum, North feels certain that there is game in the hand. The Forcing Takeout is now quite in order.

2—South, who has denied the possession of additional strength, in view of his partner's bids and his own control of the first lead of diamonds, would be justified in bidding for a Small Slam, which can, of course, be made if a favourable distribution is found in the trump suit.

President Roosevelt Takes Office.

NO drastic change in American policy, domestic or foreign, is expected from the Democratic administration which yesterday took over the Government of the United States. President Franklin D. Roosevelt takes office at one of the most critical periods in the history of America and seldom has the leader of a Government been faced with so many pressing and intricate problems. The world-wide economic depression has been felt with full force during the past year and all forms of business and industry have been seriously affected. The banking crisis has aggravated conditions, the enforced bank holidays operating in practically all the States having brought business practically to a standstill. However, the banking troubles are due mainly to the defect in the American banking system, which requires no central authority, and remedy is now being applied in the various States through legislation which will lead to a reform of the present system. One of the first and most important problems with which President Roosevelt will have to deal is the war debt question. The new President is not likely to differ much from his predecessor but has indicated that he realises the unequal burden borne by Great Britain. At this stage, total cancellation of the war debt appears improbable but hopeful signs exist for a drastic scaling down of the British debt. On foreign affairs the new President is expected to pursue the policy of the Hoover Government. The fact that Mr. Roosevelt and his chief Cabinet ministers have been in close contact with Mr. Hoover and the retiring Secretary of State, Mr. Henry L. Stimson during the past few months indicates that the recent expressions of American policy, particularly on Far East affairs have been unanimous. Where the new President will differ most from his predecessor is on the tariff question. Mr. Roosevelt has already stated his intention of lowering tariff barriers in the hope of securing reciprocal arrangements from other countries which will lead to a revival in American trade. Mr. Roosevelt is also favourably inclined to currency reform and it is significant that rumours are prevalent that inflation schemes are being seriously considered. The American attitude on the currency question will be an important factor at the world economic conference. Mr. Roosevelt is faced with vital problems, and his decisions during the next few months will determine to a large degree the course of world events. Elected by a record majority, he holds the confidence of the American people, and he commences his four years' term with the earnest support of the whole nation.

The German Elections.

THE general election takes place in Germany to-day and for the fourth time within twelve months, the German people will attempt to clear the political stalemate which has proved so injurious to the nation. The circumstances surrounding this election do not encourage any prediction of stability emerging from the voting, and the ruthless measures adopted by the Hitler Government have created widespread uneasiness throughout the country. Chancellor Hitler defends his Dictatorship on the grounds of Communist suppression, but there is little doubt that the Nazi leader has been demonstrating his ability to rule by force if he is unable to gain the verdict at the polls. In fact, in an outburst of remarkable candour, he has expressed his intention of continuing in power regardless of the election results. The consequences of such a policy may be extremely dangerous. The possibility of civil war is by no means remote. Backed by the powerful and efficient Nazi organisation, Hitler may not experience great difficulty in quelling the Communists, but a Bavarian revolt would seriously prejudice Hitler's position. Bavaria has long been resentful of Prussian dominance and open defiance has been expressed to Hitler's "Iron Rule" tactics. Recent despatches indicate that the monarchist movement is gaining ground in Bavaria. The return to a monarchy may provide the solution of a united Germany. To-day's election is unlikely to provide much assistance to the problem but the endorsement of Hitler's programme would at least lead to a definite decision for the establishment of a Government which would possess some degree of security. Loss of ground by the Nazis, at present the biggest party, would only lead to chaos and uncertainty.

NEW LIGHT WONDERS REVEALED.

Determining Left-Handed People.
A RAY FOR "TIRED EYES."

Chicago. A means of discovering whether a person is truly right or left-handed is believed to have been developed by opticians and engineers.

"Medical science has discovered that a naturally left-handed child tends to become self-conscious, starts to stammer, or develops an inferiority complex if teachers or parents insist on his writing with the right hand," says a member of the Chicago Lighting Institute.

"We have discovered that if a person is left-handed, he also is 'left-eyed.' That provides a means of learning definitely whether a child is right or left-handed."

In the test, the subject looks through a funnel-shaped device at a cardboard bearing two letters. If he sees an 'L' then he is left-eyed and left-handed. If he sees an 'R' the opposite is true.

Some other interesting developments in the use of light were on exhibit at the show here. Two would make the task of the dentist easier. One lights up the patient's mouth while the other detects false teeth. Natural teeth show up white. False ones have a pinkish glow.

A light for the optician enables him to see every vein or muscle in the eye. There's even a light for "tired" eyes. It spins 'round and round' on a wheel. The eyes of the one who watches it rotate naturally and obtain needed exercise.—Reuter.

LONDON TOPICS

From Our Own Correspondent

February 3.

Duke of Connaught.

The duke of Connaught concluded another beneficial stay at Sidmouth recently, and left for his charming villa at Cap Ferrat, on the Riviera. The rigours of the English winter make it necessary for the Duke to seek a warmer climate in the early months of the year though, as many visitors discover, the Riviera does not consistently provide it.

He will be back in England some time in May, and in July will open the magnificent new headquarters of British Freemasonry, of which he is Grand Master.

This building, the architectural beauty of which is difficult to appreciate owing to its position at the junction of Great Queen-street and Drury-lane, will have cost £1,000,000 when completed.

Lord Cecil on Dogs.

Viscount Cecil's love of animals is only equalled by his zeal for the League of Nations.

Though some people may think his strictures recently on the motorist who travels fast were a little severe, no one who heard him could fail to be impressed by his deep emotion when he spoke of the "slaughter of dogs" that strays in to the road in front of cars.

"I knew four intimately," he said, and, as the subject was too painful, he quickly passed to the psychology of the motorist who would run over a dog and go on without stopping to see if he could do anything to alleviate the physical suffering of the victim or the mental anguish of its owner.

A German Naval Visit?

There is some prospect that a German naval squadron will pay England a friendly visit this summer, possibly to Spithead during Cowes week. While nothing definite has been arranged so far, the project has been mooted in authoritative circles.

Two German cruisers were to have come over last year, but for some reason, probably considerations of economy, the plan was cancelled. The proposed visit will enable our seamen to reciprocate the cordial reception given to Vice-Admiral Astley Rushton and the Second Cruiser Squadron at Kiel in the summer of 1931.

If the pocket battleship Deutschland comes to Spithead she will prove an immense attraction.

Prince As Bill-Poster.

Was interested to hear recently the explanation of the connection between the Prince of Wales and the Billposters' Union of Victoria, who, recently passed a resolution urging that his Royal Highness be asked to become Governor-General of Australia.

When the Prince was in Melbourne soon after the war he made a complimentary reference to advertisements on the city's hoardings, remarking that they were the art of the people. This so delighted the union that they decided to create the Prince a life member.

His private secretary replied, accepting membership and wishing the union success. The Royal membership has been the boast of the union ever since, and each Christmas a card has been sent by the Prince to the union.

An Empire-BUILDER.

Few men have performed greater or more varied services in the cause of Empire than Lord Lugard of Abinger, who was 75 recently.

He went to Nigeria in 1877, fought Arab slave-dealers, played a big part in founding British East Africa—incidentally thwarting Blumarek's determined efforts to forestall him—in some years of hard work in Rhodesia in its early days and saw active service in Afghanistan, Burma, and the Sudan.

Then, after a spell as Governor of Hong Kong, he returned to Africa to act as Governor of Nigeria throughout the war.

His elevation to the peerage five years ago was a recognition of services to which Britain owes a large part of her East African Colonies.

London's Housing.

The Duke of Westminster is particularly interested in the proposal of the London Housing Society to form a central housing organisation.

He has helped to further this project by a gift of free office accommodation at 53, Davies-street. The Under Party Club, which is to hold its annual meeting in a few days' time, hopes to co-operate in the work of this central organisation, which will do much to prevent overlapping of housing effort in London.

A Postponed Portrait.

Prince George's influenza, from which he is now happily recovered, has interfered with a number of his engagements. Among them are the sittings which he is at present giving to Mr. Simon Elwes for his portrait.

He is, perhaps, less often portrayed than any other member of the Royal family, so that the painting of the picture must be a matter of gratification for the artist.

His latest and most successful portraits have been those of Sir John Maffey, the Governor of the Sudan, and his lovely daughter.

Mr. Kipling in London.

In former days Mr. Rudyard Kipling was frequently out of England at this time of the year, but recently he has spent some time in London. He was seen in a Bond-street bookshop happily examining old books.

He had a pipe in his mouth, but he was so interested in the books that he had apparently allowed it to go out.

His rapid movements as he passed from one book to another, content rath upon any point appeared to be of special interest, and then turning quickly to admire some fine example of seventeenth century printing was characteristic.

The Italian Ambassador.

Signor Grandi delivered a speech in very happy vein at a recent gathering of the British Italian Luncheon Club, at which Donna Antonietta Grandi and he were the honoured guests. His Excellency's not merely correct but idiomatic mastery of English was generally commented on.

Sir Charles Patie changed over into Italian towards the end of his speech toasting the guests; and it was in the language of Dante that—as might have been expected of him—Prof. R. S. Conway delivered the greater portion of his remarks.

Among the beautiful women of both nations present the Ambassador's wife was pre-eminent. She was dressed in a vivid green, which served to accentuate a type of loveliness that is unusually devoid of colour.

Constable of the Tower.

Field-Marshal Sir George Milne, who has been appointed Constable of the Tower, will not have to carry out one of the duties that fell to some of his predecessors.

Before the Zoo was established wild beasts were lodged in the Tower, and the Constable was responsible for their behaviour.

King Henry III. sent to the Tower three leopards which had been given to him by the Emperor Frederick in allusion to the three leopards on the Royal shield. There were lions also, and a visit to the Tower lions was obligatory on all country cousins who came to London down to the time of William IV.

The maintenance of a lion at the Tower cost 6d. a day in the fourteenth century, but a human prisoner cost only a penny a day!

HONG KONG AND THE NEW TERRITORIES. — No. 86.

The Chinese Barbet.

SATURDAY the 25th of February was devoted to another expedition to the Lam Tuen Valley and a number of interesting ornithological observations were made. The Chinese Great Barbet, Megalaima virens virens, was heard from every wood, especially where its calls heard late in the afternoon. From one wood were heard two cries, one the familiar barbet "Coo-coo-coo," the other was simply "tee" whistled repeatedly on the same note. Thinking that they both belonged to barbets two observers waited at one end of the wood whilst I made a detour to the far end and then walked slowly towards my companions. This induced the two birds to fly into a tree near my companions, they sat close together and both observers obtained a magnificent view of a pair of barbets.

The Chinese Koel.

Cuckoos and Koels both belong to the family Cuculidae but the former are distinguished from the latter because they possess feathers on the front part of the tarsus of the leg. Caldwell in his "South China Birds" calls this Koel the Indian Koel; but La Touche in his "Birds of Eastern China" separates it from the Indian Koel on account of its larger size. We first heard a pair of Koels yelling at each other on February 4th. (I can think of no better word at the moment to describe the sound they made). On the 25th we heard in one wood a pair yelling and in another wood a male bird, or more than one, giving his characteristic piercing cry, "Pee-pee-oo." This cry is repeated again and again each time higher up the scale than the last. Only the male whistles this call and he is not yet in full song. The Chinese Koel, Eudynamis scolopacea chinensis, is a summer visitor to Kwangtung; in Yunnan it is found from March to October; in Hainan, February to December. February 4th is a very early date for Hong Kong and even the 25th is 6 weeks earlier than our records for the last two years. There is no doubt our identification of this species. The male is entirely black glossed with blue; the female is glossy grey with bronze and green reflections above spotted with white, below white and dark glossy green, underparts barred, tail barred with buff and white. Immature females sometimes rusty brown instead of glossy grey and green. Other interesting birds seen included the Japanese Grey Thrush, first recorded by us from Tinian on February 4th. (N.N. 83). In at least 3 districts was this species seen; under no provocation whatsoever could we induce it to leave the ground, when alarmed it merely ran away amongst the thick undergrowth.

The Osprey.

On March 1st three of us tramped from Shataukok to the Dragon's Pool and back. The expedition was made to secure photos of Illicium Dumnorum but weather conditions were not suitable for photography and as yet few shrubs were in flower. The route followed was described in detail in N.N. 43 and in part in N.N. 78. We saw 27 different species of birds all of which, save one, a bunting, were identified; this is our record for this particular district. The most interesting bird seen was an Osprey, Pandion haliaetus haliaetus. We watched it hover high above the sea then plunge down to the surface of the water; three times did it swoop but on no occasion did it dive into the water after a fish as each time it checked its fall and soared up on high again. The Osprey is resident in Hong Kong but we have not seen one since June 1931. The bird is a little bigger than a kite and is recognisable by its white head and under parts and brown upper parts.

Other birds seen included three parties of Swallows, first seen by us this year in Hong Kong on the previous day and on the Canton River on February 12th. Five Fokien Pond Herons were seen, two Daurian Redstarts, many Tailor-birds, a large flock of Chinese Silver-eyes and species of Bulbul, Wagtail, Pipit, etc.

MISS PAMELA REDMAYNE

London.

A tall dark vivacious girl whose father is a knight is working hard in her spare time to learn Russian—for she wants to go to Russia, where she will take up public health work and find out how health services are run under Soviet rule.

This energetic young woman is Miss Pamela Redmayne, daughter of Sir Richard Redmayne, who was formerly H. M. Chief Inspector of Mines.

She is also studying the English public health service, running a library for the patients at St. Thomas's hospital, and arranging a dance. She says she is getting up this dance "because I don't want to get too serious-looking, so in between all this (her other work) I throw myself into the gay life of my friends."

Miss Redmayne started the library at St. Thomas's four years ago—and last year patients read 18,000 books. "Their taste," she says, "ranges from Ruby M. Ayres to Chaucer. I had one patient who said the only books she liked were those which had a kiss on the last page!"

It will not be Miss Redmayne's first visit to Russia. "I went there recently with friends," she explains, "and during my stay I was very interested in their public health work. When I was leaving they told me that if I cared to go back they would give me a job as a public health worker, and I accepted their offer."

"At the moment I think Russia is the most interesting country in the world to live in. All the experiments being made there are so fascinating, and everyone taking part in them is so alive. Every other country seems dead after a visit to Russia."

Miss Redmayne observed the working of the Russian marriage laws, and she says it is now possible to get married or divorced in about 5 minutes there. "I don't think," she says, "that an arrangement of this kind would suit the people in this country, though it certainly seems to suit the racial characteristics of the Russian type of mind."—Reuter.

Elegy.

Written in a Dusty Courtyard. (With apologies to Gray)

The dustman tolls the knell of breaking Dawn.

The garbage-cart winds slowly through the road.

The cobbles strew the garbage on the lawn.

And "boys" with garbage on the van do load.

Now floats a smell that doth offend the nose.

And all the air a mass of dusty cloud;

Save where reclines a faded flower—a rose.

And dustmen cursing "boys" excessively loud.

Save that from yonder lefty, cloudy cloud.

The moping crowd do to one, Sayer, complain.

Of dust and smell and liquid that doth leak.

From garbage-vans that he should never retain.

The breezy call of evil-smelling Morn.

The cobbles shouting from the wood-built cart.

The brass-bell peeling, or the deafening horn.

For more shall rouse them from their lowly bed!

For them no more the blessed and sweet repose;

Or sweet worker ply his evening care!

No fragrant scent as wafted from a rose.

But dust and odour cling fast to their hair!

Full many a suit of smartest cut serene.

The mark of dust and mud from garbage bear!

Full many an infant runs about unclean.

And breathe in odours that pollute the air!

Far from the madding crowd's ignoble life.

Thou sober Peakites never learned to stray!

Along the cool sequestered Vale of Life.

They kept the noiseless tenor of their way!

BANK OF EAST ASIA REPORTS SLIGHT DECLINE

Annual Meeting Held Yesterday.

NEW CANTON BUILDING.

A slight decline in the result of the year's working was reported by the Hon. Sir Shou-sun Chow (Chairman) presiding at the fourteenth ordinary yearly meeting of the Bank of East Asia Limited, held at the Bank's Offices, yesterday afternoon.

The Chairman added that when the adverse trading factors of the year 1932 were taken into consideration, he thought the result obtained was satisfactory.

The Chairman, addressing the meeting said:—"You will notice from the Balance Sheet that Capital Account has been increased to $5,598,600 by the issue of 5,986 additional shares. These shares were issued to the holders of Founders' shares in accordance with the scheme approved by you in the early part of 1932 by the transfer of a sum of $598,600 from Reserve Account to Capital Account. The result of the scheme is the disappearance of all Founders' shares and the cancellation of bonus payable to Directors and holders of these shares."

"You will notice that cash held by the Bank at 31st December, 1932 was higher than that of the previous year. The ratio of cash reserve was more than 70 per cent. of the liabilities in respect of fixed and current deposits. The management found it extremely difficult to obtain profitable employment of the funds entrusted to us, and you will observe that our loan account shows a drop of about 2 1/4 million dollars. I trust that you will agree that the conservative policy of your management in this branch of our business is, at the present time, a prudent one."

New Building.

"Bank Building has been written down at the same ratio as in previous years. The amount of $67,014.47 expended during the year was entirely for account of works on the new building for our Canton Branch. Owing to some unforeseen delay the new building has not yet been completed, but it is hoped that it will be ready for occupation within the next few months."

"The reduction in Reserve Account was due to the transfer of a sum of $598,600.00 to Capital Account in respect of 5,986 additional shares issued to holders of Founders' shares referred to above. The transfer of the sum of $148,600.00 to this Account will again bring it up to $2,000,000.00."

"The Directors are confident that you will support their recommendation of voting a bonus of $24,000.00 to the staff in recognition of their hard work and loyal service."

"The dividend and bonus declared are exactly the same as those of last year, and the balance carried forward is $312,533.95. Before I formally move the adoption of the report and accounts I take this opportunity of informing shareholders that the Directors are considering the question of rebuilding the present premises in Hong Kong, as more accommodation will be needed in the near future to cope with the steady growth of our business."

"I beg to propose that the report and accounts as presented be adopted, and that the balance of $933,041.96 standing at the credit of Profit and Loss Account be dealt with as follows:—

To pay a Dividend of $6 per share on 55,986 shares absorbing	$335,916.00
To pay a bonus of $2 per share on 55,986 shares absorbing	111,972.00
To transfer to Reserve	148,600.00
To pay a bonus to the staff	24,000.00
To carry forward	312,533.95
Mr. Fung Fuk-tin seconded the report, which was carried unanimously.

Shareholders Present. Supporting the Hon. Sir Shou-sun Chow, were Messrs. Wong Chu-son, Li Lan-sang, Pun Hui-cho, Li Koon-chun, P. K. Kwok, (Directors) Kan Tong-po (Chief Manager), Li Tsang-fong (Manager).

Shareholders present were: Messrs. Fung Ping-tun, Fung Fuk-tin, Chan Shu-ming, Ching Lin-fong, Lung Tin-tong, Shuk-hon, K. K. Leo, Tung, Kan Shu-ki, Li

NEW INCOME-TAX MENACE

Italian Collectors Now "Investigate Victims."

THEATRES WATCHED

Rome. Income-tax payers in Italy will think twice before they make a habit of going to theatres and cinemas in future.

It may be made a reason for raising their assessment. A law has just come into force authorising tax collectors to take into account the style of life maintained by their "victims" as well as the amount of income actually declared.

Following the passing of the bill, meetings of tax inspectors have been held at the Ministry of Finance to determine the principles under which it is to be applied.

They have decided that assessment by judging the standard of living is not to be a regular practice, but is only to be used to correct cases of noticeable disproportion between the income declared and the manner of life of the taxpayer.

In such cases the following points, among others, are to be taken into consideration:—

The number of servants employed;

The number of motorcars owned;

The number of holidays spent away from home, "especially abroad";

The value of life insurance policies;

The maintenance of children at expensive schools;

The possession tickets to theatres and cinemas.—Reuter.

An expedition is being organised by the Soviet Academy of Science to attempt to reach an immense meteorite which fell in eastern Siberia 25 years ago.

Scientific expeditions have repeatedly been sent in search of this meteorite. They have located its position, but have never been able to reach it owing to the great natural difficulties of the country.

Trees were blown down over an area of 400 square miles and the shaking of the earth at the fall of the meteorite was as violent as if a great earthquake had taken place.—Reuter.

At the beginning of 1933, said the statement, there were 2,368 dailies with an aggregate circulation of 38,826,000 and 11,970 weekly newspapers, as against 2,415 dailies and 11,979 weeklies a year ago.—Reuter.

Taxpayers in the village of Wargnies-le-Grand, in the Nord department, think it a pleasure to visit the tax-collector at this time of the year.

In consequence of a bequest made several centuries ago every inhabitant is entitled to receive a shilling from the collector at the beginning of each year. In the case of large families this sum makes a welcome addition to the household.—Reuter.

The Case Of Peter, The Disciple
The Instinct For Self-Preservation

HOW WOULD WE ACT?

(By A Local Padre.)

(This is another of the series of articles written exclusively for the "Sunday Herald" by a local Army chaplain.)

The second of short series of articles on the Character of the Cross.]

Of the many characters who played their parts in the drama of the Cross, three stand out with tragic sharpness. Judas Iscariot who betrayed his Master with a kiss; Pontius Pilate who condemned Him to a death of shame; Simon Peter who denied Him as the cock crowed to greet the dark day of His crucifixion.

As we look back across the centuries, and read that account, we feel that their characters were beneath contempt, that had we been in their shoes, a very different story would have been written.

Are we quite so sure? Take the case of Simon Peter.

If there was one man more certain than another in that band of disciples that he would stand firm, it was he. Though he should die, yet he would not betray. And he said it again and again.

He was impulsive, warm hearted, enthusiastic, so utterly human, he hated treachery and baseness, he loathed the thought that one of his friends could ever do so low a trick. He honestly believed that he was ready to die for His Master.

How can we account for his conduct? Had his character completely changed, or was it that in a moment certain defects were brought to light?

Character is not made or unmade by a single deed though it may reveal itself in one supreme act. So it was with Peter. There was a trace of boastfulness, and vainglory about him. What he lacked when it came to the pinch was moral character. Even in later years in Antioch he fell because of this same lack, when having lived with Gentiles as a Gentle, he withdrew from them when the Jews accused him of it.

In his nature there was a wish to be well thought of by men. He desired popularity. When approved by general consent he could show great courage and leadership, but if he were on the unpopular, the weaker, or the losing side, then his courage failed.

Sense of Shame.

Closely connected with lack of moral courage was a sense of shame. He was now ashamed to be connected with a man who was a prisoner, whose claims were repudiated, with a cause that now seemed to be declining. How could he acknowledge himself a disciple of that lone man standing helpless and friendless before the Sanhedrin—that lonely Man already betrayed by one of His disciples, and abandoned by the others.

Yes, ridicule, contempt and fear of what the world will think have overthrown more disciples than any force or threats. They are afraid of being thought strange, narrow-minded, a little peculiar, because there are certain things demanded of them as followers of Christ, which the world simply does not bother to think about.

Then again, Peter might have thought, "What good will it be for me to acknowledge allegiance now? Everything points to its uselessness. All the hopes of the kingdom to Israel are shattered. Jesus, my Master, who filled me with these vain hopes is now on trial, and already condemned. What can I do to help Him? I am alone. Why don't the others stand by Him? If they would, I would. Why should I alone test of loyalty be thrust upon me? I am no more responsible for His fate than they are. If for allegiance than they are, I have the right to deny."

Or again he might have said, "What right have I to be questioned? These servants have no right to enquire into my beliefs. I have a perfect right to refuse to tell them the truth. They are not entitled to it, confession won't help my Master, and it will ruin me." And so influenced by plausible self-reasoning, he gave way, and made up his mind that he would not confess. He denied his Lord, and at last denied Him with an oath.

Force of Fear.

The instinct for self preservation sometimes robs men of their reason and honour. Not one of us knows how we would act if we were in a theatre which had taken fire, or on a ship sinking in mid-ocean, or standing face to face with imminent death. Strength of attachment fails at times to raise above the stronger force of fear. So it was with Peter. His life seemed to be at stake. How easy to save it with a lie, which could never save or hurt his Master. And just then the cock crew, and "Christ turned and looked on Peter." He rushed out into the darkness weeping as though his soul would break.

Then came the dawn of Easter Day. The first message that Christ gave was, "Go and tell My disciples, and Peter, that I am risen from the dead." He knew that Peter had learned his lesson. From that moment when he was forgiven, there was no wavering in his allegiance.

The end came for Peter in Rome during the Neronian Persecution. He was persuaded to fly, but the legend tells us how he met His Master on the Appian Way. "Lord, whither goest Thou," cried the Apostle.

"To Rome" came the answer, "to be crucified again."

Filled with remorse Peter went back, and refusing to die as His Master, was crucified upside down. Are there no Peter to-day, no denials like his? Have we none of us done as he did?—denied our Lord, by being ashamed of Him, ashamed of our religion, held back from acknowledging Him, kept silent when our religion has been attacked, or ridiculed?

Have we not all asked at certain times in certain places and in certain company—What use to profess discipleship, act, speak, live as a Christian? To do so will only mean ridicule, scorn, contempt, loss of social position. To stand up for Him will not do Him any good, and may do us harm. Yes, we say, it's better not to confess just now. It won't matter this time. We try and deceive ourselves that we have His cause really at heart, and then when the moment comes in which we could show our allegiance to Him by acting up to a higher standard than the world demands, by shouldering a little piece of sacrifice not really asked of us, we let the opportunity slip.

Can we say that Peter's conduct was so unpardonable? Do we think that we would never have acted as he did? Let us cast our minds back across our lives honestly and truly.

Is not the number rather more than three?

Have we not sometime or another, at the very moment of our denial, heard the cock crow even as Peter did?

APPEAL COURT FOR HONG KONG.

Draft Bill Published In Gazette.

FULL COURT TO HEAR LOCAL APPEALS

The Draft Bill of an Ordinance to amend the Criminal Procedure Ordinance, 1899, is published in the Government Gazette.

The amendment provides that the procedure of the Supreme Court of Hong Kong shall be, as nearly as possible, the same as practice and procedure in criminal causes and matters in the High Court of Justice and the Courts of Assize in England. This will make possible the hearing of criminal appeals in the Colony, eliminating the resort to English courts.

Provision is made under the new Ordinance for the assigning of counsel and solicitors as legal aids in capital cases, cases reserved and appeal cases. Previously, provision was only made for this aid in capital cases.

All appeals will be heard by the Full Court.

MOTORING SECTION

HONG KONG, MARCH 5, 1933.

THORNYCROFT DIESEL ENGINE

New Range Of Motors.

HIGH-SPEED TYPE.

Last year a Thornycroft high-speed Diesel engine was shown publicly for the first time, and for next season a complete range of Diesel models will be available. The largest of these is a six-cylinder motor developing 75 h.p. at 1,000 r.p.m. and having a maximum speed of about 1,600 r.p.m. when the output is 120 h.p. This unit will not be shown at the Olympia Exhibition when it opens on October 13, but the Thornycroft marine oil engine range will be represented by a 50-80 h.p. four-cylinder motor, a 40-65 h.p. six-cylinder unit, and a 9 h.p. model, all of which have been subjected to lengthy trials.

The smallest engine of the series, rated at 9 h.p., is in some respects the most interesting of the new designs. Actually this motor is a Diesel Handy Billy, to use the name which has distinguished one of the most popular Thornycroft models for many years past. It is necessary to add, however, that the petrol and paraffin engines bearing this title will be continued, the Diesel engine being supplementary. Shortly we hope to deal fully with the larger engines named, but although this article is confined to the single-cylinder 9 h.p. unit, there are several points of similarity.

Moderate Propeller Speed.

The cylinder has a bore of 1 ins. and the stroke is 6 ins. For normal work the engine will run at about 1,200 r.p.m., which, in conjunction with a combined reducing and reversing gear, gives a corresponding propeller speed of 760 r.p.m. ahead and 730 r.p.m. astern.

A centrifugal governor is provided to regulate the revolutions of the engine. The specification of the power plant is in excess of both Lloyd's and B.O.T. requirements.

The cylinder is cast en bloc with the top half of the crankcase, which is extended on both sides to form a continuous bearing foot for the full length of the power unit, including the reducing-reversing gear casing.

Overhead valves are fitted and these are actuated by rockers and push rods from a camshaft within the crankcase. The cylinder head is detachable and it carries the valves, injector and water-cooled combustion chamber. A domed aluminium cover fits over the head.

Reducing-Reversing Gear.

The flywheel is at the forward end of the crankshaft, whilst an extension of the latter carries a pinion and a sprocket for the reversing and reducing gear. The ahead transmission is by means of a double roller chain to the lower shaft through an internal expanding clutch. The reverse transmission is by helical gear wheels, this drive being taken through a second clutch.

Both clutches are operated by means of a single lever. A gear-wheel-type lubricating oil pump is externally mounted at the aft end of the engine, and this is driven direct from the crankshaft. Oil is drawn through a foot valve and strainer from the sump, and it is delivered to a coiled and machined passage in the crankcase running the full length of the engine. This passage is drilled to feed both main bearings, from which the lubricant passes through a drilled crank web to the big-end bearing.

The oil is pressure fed through drilled passages to the camshaft bearings. The pump is fitted with an adjustable relief valve and pressure gauge, together with an Auto-Klean strainer. The sump is designed to carry a large supply of oil and thus obviate the need for an oil cooler. We witnessed an oil temperature test after a non-stop full-load run of two hours, when the oil temperature was found not to exceed 150 degrees F.

A needle-valve injector is mounted vertically in the cylinder head and sprays into a spherical combustion chamber, which communicates with the cylinder by a single hole. The design of this chamber has been the result of considerable experimental work. Judging from our experience with the engine on the test-bed, the flexibility is satisfactory and there is comparatively little noise.

An aluminium piston is fitted and this carries five compression rings. The design of the piston is normal and the top is quite flat. At the small end is a bronze bush which carries the fully floating gudgeon pin located by bronze buttons at both ends.

Bones Fuel Injection System.

A Bones fuel pump and injector are fitted, the former being mounted above a casing on the port side of the engine and actuated direct from the camshaft. A spring-loaded plunger is placed close to the pump, the purpose of this being to prime the fuel pipe line before a start is made.

The crankshaft, which runs in two white metal bearings, carries balance weights on extended crank webs, and it is supported in the top half of the crankcase.

Driven from an eccentric on the forward end of the camshaft is a plunger-type water-circulating pump. A snifter valve is provided in order to prevent water hammer.

Starting is by hand at the forward end of the engine. Decompressor gear is fitted on the exhaust valve enabling the engine to be swung a few revolutions until sufficient momentum is obtained, when the unit is turned on to full compression by means of a handy lever. Start should be always certain in view of the fact that the compression ratio is about 17 to 1, but a starting cartridge will be provided for emergency purposes. The brake mean effective pressure is just over 84 lb. per sq. in.

The weight of the complete unit is 9 cwt. Messrs. John I. Thornycroft & Co. Ltd. are locally represented at the Pioneer Building, Nathan Road, Kowloon, and are prepared to offer special terms in the sale of this type of engine.

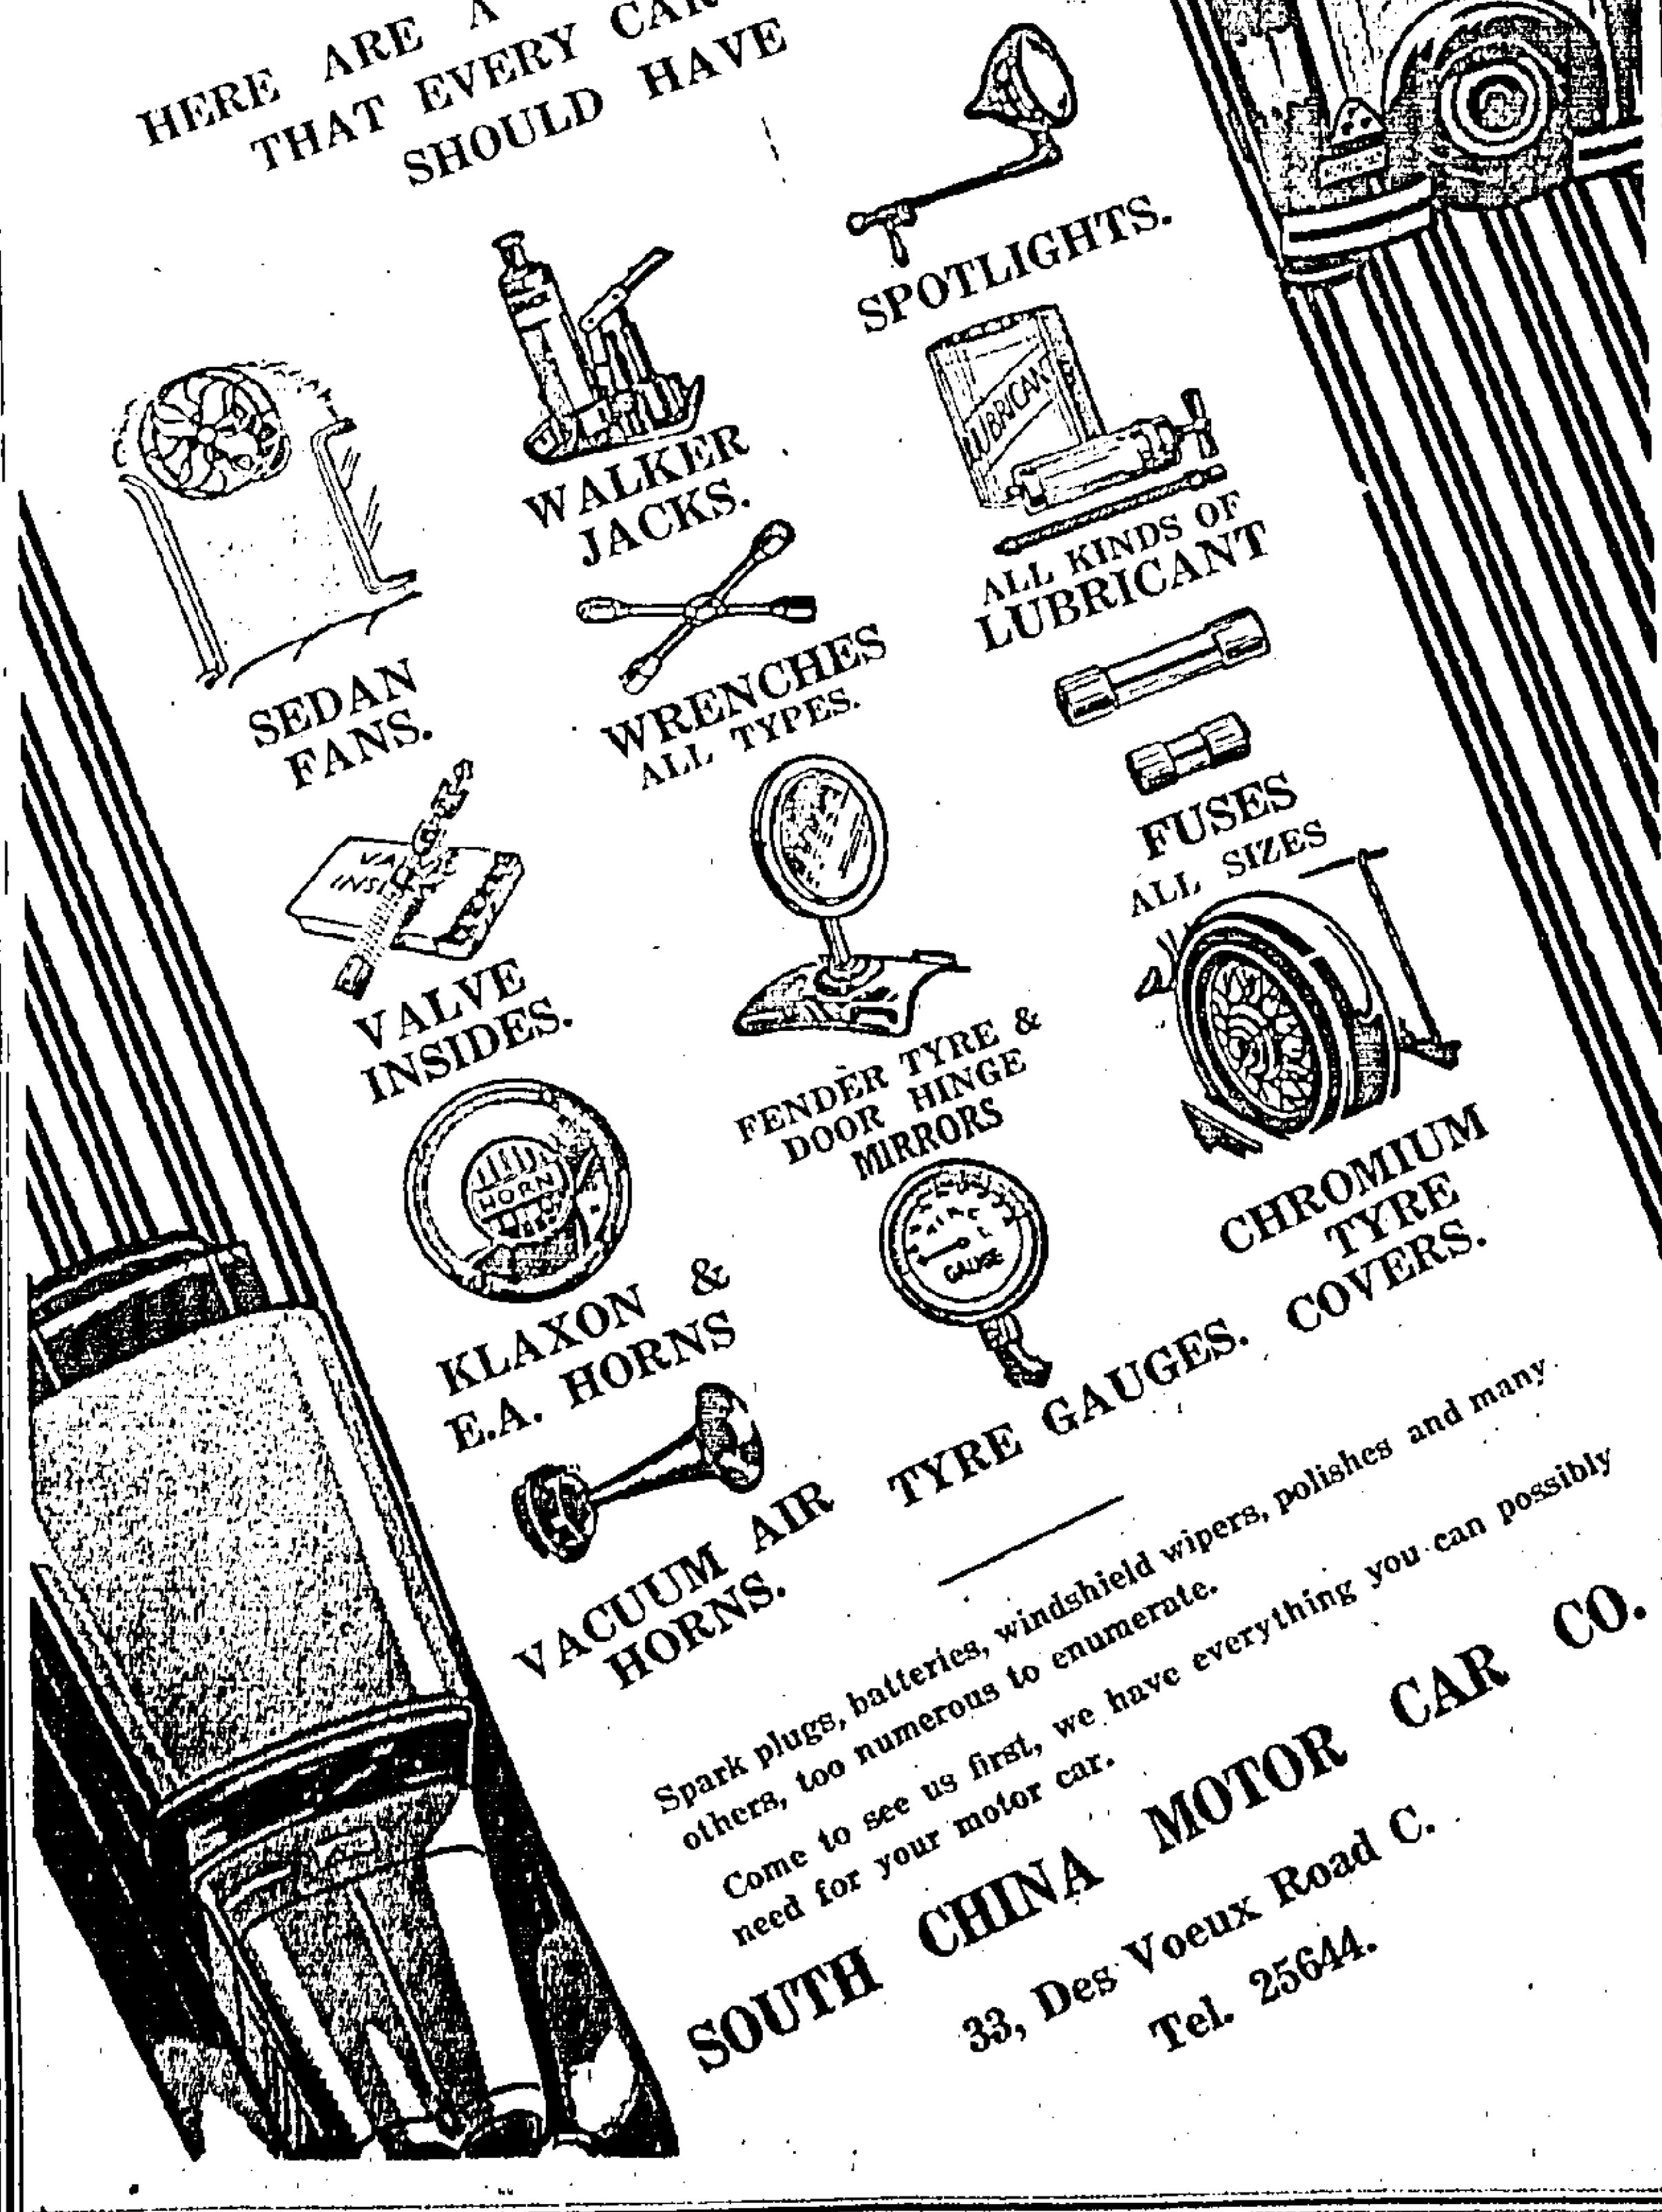

NEW RACE PROJECTED

The thanks of the sporting fraternity are due to the Junior Car Club for their attempt to devise a race in which all the competitors, whatever the size of their engines, can start together, cover the same distance, and (if the scheme works according to plan) "finish" within reasonable distance of one another. The new race is to be run at Brooklands on May 6th, 1933. In a word, it is an "obstacle" race, the obstacles—in the way of corners—being increased in proportion to the increase in engine size, so that theoretically the lap speeds of the fastest and slowest cars are identical. Admittedly, the event will be something in the nature of a circus, but it should certainly be spectacular and should attract the public.—The Autocar.

TEA THOUGHT TO BE GOLD

Mr. Pierpont Morgan
Buys Gifts From China.

New York
Mr. J. Pierpont Morgan's
Christmas tea — 7,800 pounds of it — arrived from China recently and was received at the entrance to the vaults of J. P.
Morgan & Co. in Wall Street by uniformed guards, bristling with pistols.

The delivery of the 60-pound cases gave rise to reports that a new shipment of gold has been received but a representative of the International Banking House said, "It's tea."

Morgan customarily sends his friends packages of fine Chinese tea at Christmas. The firm also is agent for several large importers. — Reuter.

BANK CRISIS SPREADS TO NEW YORK.

Lehman, the State Governor and
Mr. Harrison, Governor of the Federal Reserve Bank.

After the conference Mr. Lehman announced that the spread of hysteria, and the restrictions imposed on the banking facilities of the country by the measures taken in so many states, had at last placed on New York banks a burden so great that it finally rendered drastic action here imperative.

It is assumed that the New York Stock Exchange and all other markets will also be closed.

The States of Missouri and Iowa have proclaimed bank holidays while Wyoming and South Carolina are limiting withdrawals. When the Illinois banks reopen on Wednesday, the withdrawals will be limited to 5 per cent.—Reuter.

LIGHTHOUSE TO BE AUTOMATIC.

Australia's Most Historic Light.

Sydney.

Australia's most historic light-house at South Head is again about to be brought up to date by making the Macquarie Light automatically operated.

The original tower, built in 1817, was converted to electricity in 1883,
but in 1915 was lighted by vaporized kerosene.

Workmen are now busy installing new automatic mechanism and new lens, requiring only one keeper, instead of three, to maintain the service.

The new light will be increased from 100,000 candle power to 1,140,000 candle-power, operated from the 240-volt mains from the city Council.

The keeper will only be required to start and stop the light each night and morning.

Should the globe in operation fail,
a thermal relay energizes a switch, causing the arm holding the globes to revolve round a pivot, bringing the new globe into position.

Simultaneously, a warning light shows on the switchboard, and a bell rings in the light-keepers' house.

There are many other safety devices.—Reuter.

Arms Embargo Condemned

Nanking, Yesterday.

With reference to the Tokyo message stating that the Japanese War Office knows nothing of the Japanese alleged demands at Tien-tain, a Chinese spokesman says that the Japanese Consul-General at Tientsin sent three communications to Yu Hsueh-chung in regard to the withdrawal of the Chinese troops from Tientsin.—Reuter.
